Dear parent/carer,

Home learning

As you will know, the school remains closed over the Easter break. However, we have recognised that parents may value the option of continuing to provide some structure to their child's day during the current lockdown, and so the home learning packs sent home have been designed to cover the holiday period. The completion of the home learning packs during the holidays is completely optional, however teachers will be contacting you briefly by telephone as usual to offer any support, should you wish to continue completing these.

Our new online learning portal, 'Microsoft Teams' will be launched on Monday 20th April, with a week's learning available to access online. At this point, the home learning packs will no longer be in use. Again, I hope you will find the weekly contact by your child's teacher valuable and supportive once Teams is up and running. Children's logins for Teams have now been texted to you, however as we get Teams up and running, you may find issues with being able to logon now and again. This will be fully resolved by the time we launch on Monday 20th April.

We know that some of you will choose to switch off from school work during the Easter break, and even if not, I do hope you will find some time to relax and unwind during this challenging period.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin Reynolds
